9086-LADIES' PLAITED WAIST, WITH ADJUSTABLE SHIELD.

ADJUSTABLE SHIELD.

32, 34, 36, 38 and 46 inch bust.

Ladies' Plaited Waist with Adjustable Shield, No. 3036—Many of the dressy cloth and silk jacket suits for early fall are accompanied by lace waists that are dyed to match the costume perfectly. Just now it is possible to buy colored laces in many different shades, but frequently they are dyed to order.

A charming waist is shown here, made of cocoa-colored lace, mounted on a glove-fitted featherboned lining of white taffeta. The back is plain across the shoulders and blouses at the waist over a deep belt of brown veivet. This has a broad gold buckle in front.

Full fronts have two box plaits on each shoulder that are stitched down part way and provide becoming fullness over the bust. They blouse well at the waist. The fronts are cut out V-shaped and drawn together with smail gold pias in place of the regulation buttons.

A pattern is provided for the shield, which is finished with a standing collar. It may be made adjustable or permanently attached the right lining and close invisebly on the left. Two broad plaits in the sleeves are stitched down to form fitted caps. The full puffs below are gathered and attached to deep lace cuffs over which they droop all around.

Fancy waists in this style are made of all-over embroidery. French revering, tucking, or any fancy fabric, with collar, shield and cuffs of contrasting material. To make the waist in the medium size will require three and one-quarter yards of material 35 inches wide. The pattern, No. 9636 is cut in sizes for a 22, 34, 35, 33 and 40 inch bust measure. 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40 inch bust.
